

Call for Papers

The E-axes Forum Prize for Research on Macroeconomic Policies and Sustainability

The E-axes Forum is a non-profit research organization on macroeconomic policies and sustainability. The Forum is dedicated to aggregating knowledge from around the globe with the aim to catalyze the engagement of economists and decision makers who are working on policies toward achieving a sustainable economy.

The E-axes Forum awards an annual prize for outstanding research conducted by young scholars on a topic related to the Forum's mission.

Topic of this year's prize:

Applicants must submit a completed but unpublished paper on:

“Financing Climate Transition and Adaptation”

Climate financing, both for transition and adaptation, is an enormous challenge both domestically and globally. Furthermore, countries and regions require very different types of policies and are subject to different constraints. How will they adjust?

We welcome all submissions related to financing climate transition and adaptation, but are particularly interested in submissions related to

- Cross-border spillovers of domestic financial and monetary policies on climate finance.
- The role of private, public, and international financial institutions in supporting and encouraging net zero energy solutions.
- How to provide incentives for the private sector to invest in mitigation and adaptation.
- How to facilitate investment, including cross-border funding, of transition and adaptation investment in countries where they are most needed.
- The role of central banks in encouraging climate finance both domestically and globally

Prize award criteria

E-axes Forum will assess papers using three selection criteria: i) innovative thinking and scientific merit, ii) implications for policymakers, and iii) relevance to the themes described above.

The prize amount is $5,000 and is intended to support the recipient(s) in their research activities. The total cash award is the same for both single and co-authored papers. Should more than one winning paper be selected, the total cash award will be distributed equally between the authors of the prize-winning papers.

Eligibility requirement

The prize is intended to support young researchers in their early career development. Eligible candidates must either have completed their PhD in 2017 or later; or are completing their PhD in 2024-2025. Both single and co-authored papers will be considered. However, all authors of a co-authored paper must comply with the eligibility requirement.

Submission procedure

Applications with completed papers and a CV should be submitted by email to prize@e-axes.org by midnight EDT on September 15th, 2024. The winner of the award will be announced at the beginning of December 2024.

Prize Committee Members

The winning submission will be selected by a distinguished committee from academia, central banks, and policy think tanks:

Stephen G. Cecchetti, Brandeis International Business School

Galina Hale, Department of Economics, University of California at Santa Cruz

Stefano Giglio, School of Management, Yale University

Pierre Monnin, Council on Economic Policies

Fernanda Nechio, Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco

Esteban Rossi-Hansberg, University of Chicago

Johannes Stroebel, New York University